BACHELOR OF Hotel Management
ADVANCED DIPLOMA OF Hospitality
TAFE NSW – Northern Sydney Institute (NSI) and Charles Sturt University (CSU) have developed a new and innovative program that integrates practical and academic learning resulting in two recognised qualifications in just three years; a TAFE NSW Advanced Diploma and a Charles Sturt University Bachelor Degree.

What are the benefits?

- Ryde college is internationally renowned and recognised as a leader in tourism and hospitality studies.
- Graduate with two qualifications in only three years, with no extra time or workload.
- Save up to 40% of the cost of just studying the degree alone, due to receiving credit for the Advanced Diploma.
- No need to apply through UAC. All admissions are by direct entry application to CSU and NSI via Ryde College.
- The entire program is delivered at Ryde College. You will have full access to the services and facilities provided by both NSI and CSU.
- The CSU component of the program is supported under Commonwealth Supported Places (formally HECS).

Course structure

The course has six stages. In the first four stages (first and second year) you will be studying components of both courses – the Advanced Diploma of Hospitality (including three specialist elective streams) and the first four subjects of the Bachelor of Hotel Management.

In the final two stages (third year) you will complete the remaining eight degree subjects.
